

Dear FCC,
Please do not weaken the Wisconsin "no call law". I put my name on the no call list as soon as the law was passed, and my quality of life has much improved since reducing or eliminating calls from solicitors. I understand that there is discussion about a new FCC policy that would allow vendors to call former customers. DON'T ALLOW THIS! If I change phone companies or cable providers or insurance carriers, I've done this for a reason. I was not satisfied with the service and don't want the old company calling me. I love the current WI law as is and don't want FCC overriding it. The people of the state should be given the authority to develop "no call" policy. FCC seems to be bowing to pressure from big industry and ignoring the desires and rights of the people. Again, FCC, leave my Wisconsin "no call" law alone.
